

The Code of Honor of IPIL is accepted by any learner enrolled in one of the Executive Online Certificates and reflects the commitment which makes all participants respect and enforce the common learning model.

You commit :

- To post only personal work on the platform.
- Not to engage in any dishonest activity in order to improve your results, or improve or reduce the results of others.
- Not to reproduce or republish the questions or answers of quizzes or exams.
- Not to distribute the materials of courses or programs (for example publishing screenshots or course videos).
- To maintain only one account for the Site and not to let anyone else use your login and/or your password.
- To publish only accurate personal information.
- To act as a guardian of the Code of Honor and encourage all other participants to do the same.

You acknowledge and accept that disrespecting the Code of Honor could lead to the revocation of your account.
